Protexin®

Careers

Protexin is a division of Probiotics International Limited, the manufacturer and supplier of probiotic products including leading brands Bio-Kult and Lepicol. We specialise in producing effective, innovative, research based products of the highest quality for animals and humans.

This is a fantastic opportunity for a nutritional therapist or a qualified practitioner to join a fast growing, dynamic and award winning organisation.

The role:

- To conduct key account management of health stores and pharmacies in South West London (SW1-SW12)
- Training of Health Store and Pharmacy staff on the benefits of each of our products, covering predominantly West London.
- To visit health stores and clinics to promote and educate staff & customers on the benefits of our products
- Ensure products are positioned well in-store and advise on best use of POS materials and where possible dress windows.
- Interact with customers, giving advice and attend in-store open days
- Regularly liaise with National Sales Manager, Technical Advisor and attend regular meetings with the wider team
- Be able to attend various shows and conferences to promote our brands.

Candidate:

- Degree or relevant qualification e.g. Diploma, Advanced Diploma in Nutrition / Naturopathy / Complementary Health
- Professional personal presentation
- Good communication skills with confidence presenting technical information
- Strong relationship building skills with ability to gain customer loyalty from retail staff
- Driven, hardworking, self-motivated, super-enthusiastic, outgoing and a strong influencer
- Must have own car and full driving licence
