- To maintain project documentation records to a high standard
- To organise and chair regular new product development meetings
- New product cost analysis
- Technical input into packaging sign-off
- To provide regular project updates to the department head
- Management of NPD processes through IFS (in-house computer system)
- Project admin through IFS

Essential candidate skills:

- Previous experience in new product development coordination/ management
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills
- Methodical and organisational skills, with high accuracy and attention to detail
- Excellent IT skills including the use of Word, Excel and Outlook to a high level
- Positive "can do", pro-active attitude and demonstrate use of initiative

Candidate qualifications/requirements:

- The ideal candidate will have at least 2 years' experience in a similar role and a degree or higher within a relevant scientific subject.
